

Values @ home

Our value for March is thoughtfulness. It is a value that children can easily incorporate into their everyday vocabulary and understand as being practical and relevant to their life both at home and at school. Essentially thoughtfulness is about putting the needs of others before our own.

In class we will be thinking about how we can be thoughtful to others and also thinking about the different ways in which others are thoughtful to us.

Jar of Thoughtfulness

Why not have a jar in your house for March and each time someone in the family does or says something thoughtful they can add a bead or piece of pasta?

Is it possible to fill the whole jar before the end of the month? Why not celebrate all your thoughtful acts by doing something all together as a family. Remember children and adults can earn something for the jar!

Thoughtful books

Keep your eye out in all your books at home and school for examples of characters being thoughtful. Why not show your teacher or bring the book in to be shared in class?

Speaking our values!

Thoughtfulness is a really easy value to try and use in everyday conversation. Try and use the word when praising your child for doing kind things and draw attention to the fact they are following their values at home as well as school!
